LETTER FROM M'MINNVILLE

MCMINNVILLE March 7, 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I have not seen anything in your paper from our little town for some time and for fear you might forget us Yamhillians have concluded to drop you a few notes of passing events

Everything is flourishing with us. Merchants are doing a good business and mechanics have plenty of work. Crops look well and every indication is favorable for a year of peace and plenty. The subscription for a free bridge across the Yamhill at this place has reached $1400 and the County Court has agreed to appropriate $1000 so we are sure of a free bridge at this place which has long been needed

The Grangers are talking of erecting a two story building at this place, the upper story to be used as a Lodge room, the lower story as a public hall

MCMINNVILLE INITIATED THE TEMPERANCE WAR in Oregon last night. Forty of our temperance women visited our saloon. They stayed two or three hours lecturing and pleading with men to quit frequenting this place. Their entrance created quite a little buzz among those present. Most of them faced the music but one or two of our young men suddenly remembered some business engagement down town, and decamped very suddenly by the back door not because they had any preference for the back door but it was most convenient. The occurrence creates no little comment. The ladies say they are going to keep it up and the proprietor says he is not going to back down. The saloon men had a lively time after the ladies left. Yours &c LOCAL

Interior California.

SANTA CRUZ March 7—From B H Martin one of the nine jurors who were for the conviction of Blakely we learn that as they stood on the first ballot so they stood on the last. The matter was argued, but no change was made on either side. Mr Martin states that Mr Hammone, one of the jurors said that when he went into the box he was prejudiced but while there his prejudice existed no more. He put his trust in God and asked Him to guide him in his deliberations and from the inmost corner of his heart the response came that Blakely was innocent, and nothing could change that impression. All those for acquittal argued that the others were actuated by prejudice. Blakely leaves for Salt Lake in two days. Judge Hagar departs for San Francisco to-morrow.

The party then passed through the hill and adjourned to the headquarters of White and Bugbee and had lunch. Over $600 000 have been spent on the road in the county. Some three miles of iron are now laid with enough for about 50 miles on hand. The Directors say they will have the road in running order by August. Mr Bugbee justly feels proud. Only one accident has occurred during the entire time in which the work has been in progress one year, having been commenced March 5th 1873

LODI March 7—W B Soule alias Dr Bartlett who was here about one year ago soliciting subscribers for the Alta who failed invariably to send the papers subscribed for was yesterday identified and arrested for obtaining money under false pretenses but during the evening succeeded in making his escape from the officers. Three young fellows named John Tipton, Tommy Madden and John Kerr took sides with the Oakdale house and tried to make Dr Inman take back what he had said or run him out of town but did not succeed in either. The first shooting scrape was between Tipton and a French doctor who took up on the side of Inman and who was shot through the arm. After that Tipton, Madden and Kerr went down to Inman's house and commenced shooting at the house and succeeded in running the family out. The citizens interfered and stopped further shooting. There would probably have been considerable blood shed if they had not Tipton and Madden escaped. Kerr was arrested and brought to Modesto

Since the plow with two engines from Truckee coming here to-day ran off the track four miles west of here throwing the plow twenty feet from the track, injuring the brakeman seriously and the conductor slightly. Superintendent ... is now on the ground endeavoring to place the plow on the track. Till such time as that is done the road will be effectually blocked between here and Truckee. Freight trains are all abandoned. The Virginia and Truckee railroad is open and trains are running on time. Between this place and Blue Canon plows have banked the snow up on each side of the track 12 or 14 feet high. This makes a pit on the track that drifts full in 10 minutes. The new snow of this storm is four feet deep with indications of more. The weather is cloudy with a mild wind from the southwest

MONDAY MORNING MARCH 9 1874

A WELL-DEFINED DEMAND AND A COMMON PRINCIPLE

We find in the Bulletin of the 7th inst the following remarks which are a fair specimen of the current party argument on the subject of independent action in politics

> The scheme of a third State ticket is probably the rock on which the enterprise will split Such a result would be only natural For there is no common principle of unity and action in this movement It is not undertaken in response to any well defined demand It can propose nothing of a practical character and has no its origin in any popular want

No doubt the desire to have events take a given turn often warps the judgment and befogs the reasoning faculties till the conclusion is reached that such turn they surely must take It is conceivable that under such influences the editor of the Bulletin might really believe the county independent movements to be endangered by the State movement Therefore we are not disposed to question the sincerity of this declaration of the Bulletin, though it appears to an unbiased mind perfectly absurd We are not advised by that paper by what process of reasoning the conclusion is reached that a voter who does not choose to support the State independent ticket must necessarily refuse to vote for the independent candidates in his county The connection of the two tickets is not apparent There is no doubt that those calls for independent county conventions which make no provision for sending delegates to a State Convention, will receive some signatures which they would not receive if they contemplated independent action in both State and county affairs, for those who oppose an independent State ticket while they favor such action in their counties, will of course, decline to attach their names to a call for a State Convention But there is no ground for supposing that such persons will withhold their support from the independent county tickets, because they happen to think such a State ticket is unnecessary The very idea of independence involves toleration of differences, and it will be found, when the election day comes round, that many of those who go with their party on the State ticket, will give their votes to the independent county ticket In short, the two tickets will not be regarded as identical, but voters will exercise their individual judgment in regard to each as a distinct matter

If it is true, as the Bulletin asserts, that "there is no common principle of unity and action" in the movement, and that it "is not undertaken in response to any well-defined demand," and that therefore it "can propose nothing of a practical character, and has not its origin in any popular want"—if all this is true, then is the movement unnecessary and uncalled for But is this true? It is clearly and manifestly untrue. The 'well-defined demand" is that the public business shall be transacted, and all public affairs administered, at as little cost to the tax-payers as possible, and that right of all classes, producers as well as consumers, to equal protection in the Courts and in the Legislature, shall be secured and protected that the common treasure of the people shall not be squandered upon private jobs under the guise of public enterprises, that the creation of new and unnecessary offices or commissions, with salaries to be paid out of the taxes imposed upon the industry of the country, shall cease, that the compensation to necessary officers shall be reduced to such rates as shall be only fair remuneration for the services they perform, that the vicious, unrepublican, undemocratic ideas which now seem to bear sway and according to which public officers are expected to live in a style different from and above that of the common people, and must therefore have salaries sufficient to enable them to do so, shall be thoroughly "stamped out," that in every branch of the public service extravagance and wastefulness shall give place to economy and frugality

This demand is clear, specific, 'well defined," and it has been coming up from every section of the country for some time, and growing louder and louder till to day it is thundered at the door of every county courthouse, of every State capitol and even of the capitol of the nation itself, in tones to which none can be deaf but those who will not hear And to meet this demand, in a practical way, with a tangible, potential remedy, by the passage and enforcement of laws adapted to secure the demanded results, is what the movement can and does propose What is of a more 'practical character," and what could be more in accordance with a just demand of the people, than to cut off from State Treasurer from State Printer from every State officer where it exists, all the extra and unconstitutional pay received in the form of perquisites? What more practical than to take away four fifths of the enormous swag which makes the offices of Clerk and Sheriff in the most populous counties of Oregon more lucrative positions than that of Chief Justice of the United States or member of the President's Cabinet? What more practical than to stop the squandering of the public revenues on wagon road jobs that were never intended by their originators to do the public any good? Certainly these things are sufficiently "practical," and the demand for them swells up all over the State so loud that nobody can help hearing it who is not too deaf to be aroused by the trumpet of Gabriel

And now for the 'common principle of unity and action which the Bulletin thinks is wanting If there be any who have failed to observe it already we would ask such to look back over the history of the past few years during which period these abuses have crept into public affairs and see if there is any reasonable hope of a remedy being obtained through the regular party organizations Have not both parties been in the ascendancy from time to time in State and county and has not each made the most of every lease of power to fortify itself instead of sinking the demands of party in the higher consideration of the welfare and happiness of the people? No one can deny it In saying this we mean not to impute dishonesty to the law makers, nor to those who have received what improvident laws entitled them to Some of them were dishonest, it is true and there will never be a party on earth that will be wholly free from dishonest men But the honest and the dishonest have alike been parties to extravagant and wasteful administration The exigencies of party have obscured the demands of true patriotism and involved the whole people—voters and others—in the commission of these wrongs The existence of questions that appeared to be of vital importance in the theory of our Government and upon which the two parties differed essentially and radically, made party discipline appear a duty, and a rigid party spirit to such an extent as placed everything else in subjection to it. And now these vital differences having been removed an opportunity is offered to correct the abuses that crept in under the protection of party spirit Reason says it is idle to look for the remedy in the very source of the evil or to expect the demanded reform at the hands of the very organizations that have drawn a large part of their sustenance from the abuses and are still deeply interested in having them perpetuated And the people are listening to the voice of reason Is not that a sufficiently great common principle of unity and action?"

A SMALL MATTER WITH A LARGE MORAL.

Bro Carter shows his good sense in refusing to father a lying article which appears in his paper, the Corvallis Gazette, accusing us of envy and malice toward public men If the article had to go in—and we do not pretend to say he was not placed under stress of circumstances sufficient to justify its admission—he did the decent thing by indicating that he did not wish to be considered its author We have no occasion to be envious of public men, for we have no aspirations for office, we have no reason for malice toward them, for with but few exceptions those we have met have treated us well We have exposed the rascalities and commended the good deeds and qualities that have come under our observation without regard to the question whether they were friends or foes This we have done, because a journalist can not otherwise discharge his duties It is pleasant, generally, to praise; and it is always unpleasant to censure But whoever will not perform the pleasant duty judiciously the other unsparingly, when justice and truth demand it, is out of his place as the editor of a public journal

A NOBLE ANSWER

The answer of President Grant to the petition of the inhabitants of Fayal in the Azores Islands for the establishment of a protectorate over them is worthy the President of the greatest and freest republic that ever existed "The era of the popular will has replaced the era of conquest" These are noble words So long as their spirit is the spirit that rules the Government of the United States in all its dealings with questions relating to foreign countries, so long will it be impossible for the clamor of interested parties to precipitate the Republic into unnecessary wars This was the spirit that saved the nation from a hasty and unjustifiable declaration of war against Spain over the Virginius affair, and held the matter in abeyance till the storm of factitious popular sentiment got up by the politicians had time to subside When the people asserted themselves, the demand for war was found to be confined to a few parties whose interest in the matter was purely selfish Long may the President of these United States be able and willing to recognize the rights of the people

OUR NEXT LEGISLATURE

> The next Legislature will consist of ninety members classified as follows Senators 30; Representatives, 60 The five counties of eastern Oregon will be represented by five Senators and nine members of the House
> Although this is a small numerical number to represent the varied interests of a region of such vast territorial extent yet when we consider that in point of population we scarcely constitute one eighth of the entire State we do not feel like complaining at a proportion that gives us nearly one-sixth of the law making body of our State Let the fourteen members from the bunch grass region be honest, sober and industrious men, thoroughly conversant with the wishes of the people and in full sympathy with the workers and they will doubtless return from their legislative labors, prepared to demonstrate to their constituency, that the members from western and southern Oregon are disposed to treat this portion of the State with fairness But if we in an evil hour send men whose sole stock in trade is defunct partisan ideas and who know nothing of public life but the antiquated tricks of disreputable politicians then we may expect that our members will return to us next fall cursing the Webfooters thereby hoping to anticipate and forestall the deep damnation they are conscious of deserving—Dalles Mountaineer

We commend the above to our fellow citizens who are not of "the bunch grass region" Every word of it is as applicable to the "Webfoot nation" as to the section of the State lying east of the Cascade range of mountains

The New England press continues the discussion provoked by the confirmation of Simmons as Collector of Customs for Boston Some of the Maine papers which seem by the way to be pretty well up in the history of Simmons' peculiar services for Butler are particularly vehement Thus the Portland Press confidently assert that the nomination is "more thoroughly disreputable than any President Grant has yet made It declares with emphasis that "the Republican party has no further use for Gen Butler and political [illegible] of his stripe" This as it strikes us is fully as strong as need be The Boston Globe wants it understood at Washington that the Republicans of Massachusetts propose to keep the Republican party in Massachusetts where John A Andrew left it The Springfield Republican reviews the turbulent situation in its customary fashion It says "It is amusing to notice the [illegible] with which the timider Massachusetts organs reach around Gen Grant to whack Gen Butler It must begin to strain them painfully though

The Maine Senate by a vote of 14 to 12 has passed a bill for the abolition of capital punishment The Attorney General of Massachusetts strongly urges the General Court of that State to adopt some punishment less rigorous than the death penalty If we do not err the Iowa Legislature has stricken the punishment of death from the statute books of that State In California the opponents of the prevailing system were not so successful although the Governor recommended the abolition and a measure looking thereto received a very respectable support in the Senate

The bill introduced into Congress as mentioned in Saturday morning's dispatch to extend the west side land grant south to Junction City contemplates assistance to a greatly needed enterprise The completion of the road from Portland to Junction on the west side, would provide facilities for transportation to a very large and fertile section of country We wish it the greatest possible success And while on the west side subject we hope our delegation in Congress will not forget the condition of affairs on the Astoria end of the grant. The road to that place would open up to settlement an extensive section of country and bring a large trade to Portland besides developing the really magnificent resources of Clatsop county and opening a way to reach the mouth of the river during such long "freeze ups" as we sometimes have

A very pleasant incident occurred in the House of Representatives two weeks ago on the occasion of Chief Justice Waite first appearance on the floor of the House A motion made by Mr E R Hoar for a recess of ten minutes in order that the members might be presented to the Chief Justice carried unanimously Mr Waite was escorted to the open space in front of the Speaker's desk where Mr Blaine introduced the members as they marched by in procession A correspondent says Mr Waite was evidently delighted with the cordiality of his reception and the honor accorded him which was very unusual as the House rarely interrupts its proceedings out of deference to any person, however distinguished What an imposing procession that must have been!

The city of Philadelphia has a District Attorney who is entitled to the profoundest gratitude from the community he serves The dispatches mention that he assures the Mayor that if the violators of a certain law specified by the Mayor shall be indicted he will deal with them as with other criminals or to be exact "Just the same as other cases" That is certainly a very remarkable and significant declaration No wonder it is telegraphed across the continent

A bill which passed the House during the last week in February provides that the clerks of United States Courts shall deposit their fees with the Treasurer of the United States During debate upon the bill Mr Speer of Pennsylvania declared that there are some clerks of United States Courts who receive in annual fees the sum of $100 000 This ought to tempt Mr Dawes Knife

We omitted to state in Saturday OREGONIAN that the handsome sketch entitled Pioneer Justice in Oregon which appeared in that number, was written for the Overland Monthly by Wm M Turner of Jacksonville and formerly of the Sentinel

A call is issued for an Independent County Convention in Wasco county to nominate candidates for county officers, and to select delegates to attend the Independent State Convention

CITY.

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION.—By invitation of Col H. R. Leonard we had the privilege Saturday of inspecting his Electro Magnetic Engine which we regard as one of the most remarkable inventions of the age. The credit of this invention is due jointly and equally to Col Leonard and James M Sutton, Esq to both of whom have given the matter several months close study. The peculiarities of this engine are: It receives the full power of the battery by direct action on the perimeter of a main wheel without the loss incident to centers or dead points. It is so constructed that the same power may be used repeatedly thus obviating the necessity for such large batteries as have been used in other electrical engines and the machine is propelled by both attraction and repulsion at the same instant giving an equal constant and uniform power. We hope at some future time to have the privilege of furnishing our readers a particular description of this remarkable engine as we can not but think it will prove one of the most important inventions ever made in motive power. The machine now in working order is small and comparatively imperfect but it works to a charm showing considerable power and completely demonstrating the correctness of the principles upon which its inventors have proceeded.

DISAPPEARANCE.—A young lady who has been residing in the southern portion of the city for some months employed in the capacity of a domestic in the family of a well known gentleman disappeared quite suddenly a few nights since. The young lady resides when at home, near St Helens. On last Friday morning the young lady expressed a desire to go home. The gentleman at whose house the girl was stopping offered to accompany her to the boat on Friday evening but she declined to go saying all her things were packed and that she would go down to the boat early on the following morning. The next morning it was discovered that she had left some time during the night leaving behind all her effects. She had not asked for the balance of the wages due for her services. Inquiries were made to ascertain if she was a passenger on the boat, but it was found that she had not gone down the river. Up to a late hour on Saturday evening no traces were discovered as to the young lady's whereabouts.

FIRST STEAMSHIP PIONEERS.—The steamship California, Captain Cleveland Forbes left New York October 6, 1848. The "gold fever" broke out after the departure of the steamer and various other vessels were hurriedly dispatched to the isthmus with through passengers. Very few of those who arrived on the California went the entire voyage around the Horn and comparatively few of the passengers and crew survive. Dr A B Stout Surgeon of the steamship, is the only officer of the California now living. Mr Lloyd Brooke of this city, and General Adair of Astoria were passengers by this steamer. The twenty fifth anniversary of the arrival of the California at San Francisco was celebrated on the 28th ult. in grand style by many of the pioneers and invited guests with an excursion trip around San Francisco bay on the steamer that brought them (the pioneers) to that port.

PASSENGERS COMING.—Last Saturday forenoon the steamer Ajax sailed from San Francisco for Portland. She has on board the following passengers: Mrs. J W White and sister, Mrs A. Veser, Mrs Holmes, J D Reynolds and wife, J Crellin and wife, Miss Belle Gordon, Mrs S A Kyes and daughter, John Hall, Jas Laidlaw, Sam Redlich, P Goldsmith, Mrs J B Montgomery and child, J Bachman, H Ackerman, H T Dittenhoefer, H Humbel, Geo F Grant, G Van Renselaer, M H Davis, J Oppenheimer, A. Wolf, J G Hughes, W H Lewis, J Sutherland, J B Williams, L Kidwell, J Morrow, E Stapleton, T Cloin and sister, J T Gregg and wife, Chas Call, J Cohen, G W Hostetter and wife, M Rover, C B Wolverton, Thos Rowen, W A Eastus, B J Johns, B F Engel, Miss M Dall, Miss E Knowles.

CONGREGATIONAL CONCERT.—The regular monthly concert of the Congregational Sunday School, took place last evening. The exercises, consisting of music, recitations, reading and [illegible], all relating to "Time," the subject for the evening passed off very pleasantly, and was listened to by a large and attentive audience. Dr Pilkington's reading (the Death of Jo, from Bleak House) was especially fine. The choir also rendered several pieces in their usual excellent style.

WANTS A MAP.—A F Bryant now residing at Fontanelle, Adair county Iowa, writes for the OREGONIAN and a sectional map of Oregon. He says "I was employed at Tryon & Rodgers' saw mill in 1852. Portland was a small town then; it may be larger now." We can assure Mr Bryant that it is larger now, "Rather!" Will some one communicate with him about maps? A late directory would serve to enlighten him on the growth of the metropolis of Oregon.

AT FORT WRANGEL.—Last Friday the steamer Eliza Anderson arrived at Victoria from Fort Wrangel. This vessel brought no intelligence from the Cassiar mines, there being, as yet no communication with the interior. The miners had all pressed on in high hope and the party landed by the Anderson were to start in a body on the 27th ult.

TEMPERANCE PRAYER MEETING.—We are requested to announce that a Union Temperance Prayer Meeting will be held in the Baptist Church this evening. Exercises will begin at 7:30 o'clock. Several of the congregations of this city have united in this call. Every friend of temperance is requested to be present.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

STORMY MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE—AN OBSTINATE CHAIRMAN—[illegible] AT RES[illegible]—WRANGLING SCENES—FUN IN THE GALLERY [illegible]

In pursuance of a published notice the Democratic delegates chosen from each of the precincts in Multnomah assembled at the Court House last Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The object of the Convention was to elect 12 delegates to attend the Democratic State Convention which will meet at Albany on the 18th inst.

At the appointed hour the Convention was called to order by Mr A B Hallock Chairman of the County Central Committee.

He stated very briefly the objects of the meeting and concluded his remarks by saying that the first thing in order would be the election of a Chairman.

Scarcely had these words been uttered when both Mr Cronin and B L Norden sprang to their feet. The name of J S M VanCleave was proposed as Chairman by Mr Cronin and at the same instant that of W W Page by Mr Norden.

Some delay ensued here as both these gentlemen claimed to have placed in nomination his candidate first. At length this question was settled by the Chairman in favor of Mr Cronin. Mr VanCleave's name was then presented to the Convention but the delegates signified by a small majority that he was not the choice. Mr Page's name was next placed before the Convention and that gentleman chosen to preside over the deliberations of the meeting.

Mr Page on assuming the chair thanked the Convention for the honor they had conferred and concluded by saying that he would endeavor to the best of his humble ability to preside over its deliberations.

The name of Shubrick Norris was placed in nomination as Secretary by B L Norden.

J J Meagher placed in nomination J B Lane.

Mr Norden amended by proposing the name of Mr Norris as Secretary and Mr Lane as Assistant Secretary.

This motion prevailed, and these gentlemen chosen by a unanimous vote.

By request Mr Norden was authorized to procure the necessary stationery for the use of the Secretaries.

Mr Bellinger moved that a committee consisting of five persons be appointed on Credentials.

Mr Meagher moved to amend by substituting one member from each precinct.

Pending this motion a protracted discussion ensued among several of the delegates—some favoring the original motion and some the amendment. At length the vote was taken and the amendment prevailed.

Nominations were now declared in order and proceeded rapidly until at least one half the names of the delegates present were placed in nomination.

Some disgusted delegate arose at this juncture, and demanded to know if there was any limit to the nominations; that if the Convention continued to nominate much longer there would be no further need of a Committee on Credentials.

The Chairman without deigning to answer this pertinent interrogatory declared that "remarks were not in order now" and demanded that nominations proceed. He stated also that these nominations were "merely suggestions," that he intended to exercise his discretion and appoint whom he liked.

The friends of the original motion took this opportunity to protest against the action of the Chair.

After a somewhat heated and confused discussion in which half a dozen motions were made and seconded but declared "out of order" the Chairman announced substantially to the Convention that he proposed to "run the thing" in his own way.

More confusion and wrangling followed among the delegates in which the Chairman vainly attempted to maintain what he termed "decency and order" but which said efforts only tended greatly to augment the prevailing disorder.

Mr Norris after considerable delay managed to obtain the floor but before he had time to make any remarks, the Chairman, in a very peremptory manner ordered him to "sit down." Mr Norris however did not see proper to accede to the demand with the degree of alacrity well pleasing to the doughty Chairman, whereupon that officer repeated the order in a very healthy stage whisper accompanied with a series of theatrical gestures of unmistakable import. The gentleman still stubbornly insisted upon his rights and refused to yield the floor. Patience is a jewel but Mr. Norris' persistence broke the creature's spine clear in twain. Mr Norris mildly (?) expostulated the irate Chairman, "will you sit down, sir? I will just give you to understand sir, that I can preside over this Convention without any prompting from the Secretary. Attend to your business as Secretary or I'll come down there and attend to you." The Chairman closed this brilliant peroration with a half audible remark about "people shooting off their mouths," to which Mr Norris retorted by saying that he proposed to "shoot off his lip" ad libitum; that he was a delegate, and had a right to be heard and to participate in the proceedings. The Chairman replied "You prostitute your right of speech and the persons you represent. I will not be dictated to by the creature of any corporation."

To expedite matters which appeared to be growing worse and more inexplicable every moment the Chairman declared everything out of order; that all the delegates might as well "dry up," as he would entertain no more motions nor listen to any more remarks from any one.

Quiet at length settled down over the troubled elements and the Convention proceeded to business.

A motion was then made to appoint a Committee of five on Credentials, which the Chair had the magnanimity to entertain and put. It carried unanimously, whereupon the Chair appointed the following persons: S Pennoyer, R J Ladd, B L Norden, J B Stephens and A B Hallock.

Mr Zieber moved that the Convention take a recess of 15 minutes to enable the Committee to report. The motion prevailed and the Committee retired.

At the expiration of fifteen minutes the Chairman who appeared just a little nervous called the Convention to order and dispatched a swift winged messenger to the room where the Committee were busily engaged in making up their report to inquire if they were ready and to inform them that the Convention awaited their pleasure. In a moment the messenger returned with the following stunning announcement which was delivered with thrilling elocutionary effect: "Mr Chairman, I am authorized by the Committee to report progress in their arduous labors. They humbly ask for five minutes longer."

A motion was made and carried that the Convention continue the recess for that length of time.

Scarcely had the last second of the five minutes passed ere the Chairman again vigorously tapped his gavel and sent another messenger to wait on the Committee. This time the Committee only asked five minutes which the Chairman very reluctantly granted.

At the expiration of that time the Committee made their appearance and submitted the following report:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

[illegible]

[illegible] Committee on Credentials [illegible] the following named gentlemen [illegible] this Convention [illegible]

[illegible]

From the Second Ward of the city of Portland the Committee found that Mr [illegible] had given two proxies, one to [illegible] Fletcher [illegible] March [illegible] and one to Shubrick Norris dated March [illegible] and considering [illegible] the Second Ward should cast the vote of Mr. Risley rather than either of the proxies designated.

From the Third Ward it appears that H Schecelar gave a proxy to Mr A Zieber but it appearing that the precinct meeting of that Ward voted that the [illegible] of any delegate failing to attend should be cast by the balance of the delegates the Committee recommend that the delegation from that Ward cast the vote of Mr Schecelar rather than the gentleman designated in the proxy.

St Johns and Multnomah precincts were not represented.

B L NORDEN
R J LADD
JAS B STEPHENS
Committee.

I dissent from the report in the matter of the [illegible] of the proxy of J S Risley.

A B HALLOCK

ANOTHER ROW IN CAMP.

Mr Meagher moved that the Convention adopt the report.

This motion at length prevailed after a long and angry discussion.

Mr Hallock moved that Mr Scoggins be authorized to cast the vote of St. Johns precinct.

The Chairman refused to entertain the motion or to allow Mr Hallock to speak as the adoption of the report precluded further action.

At this juncture a most noisy and confused scene was enacted which beggars description. Something less than forty motions were made but the Chairman arbitrarily and in the most obstinate and informal manner refused to entertain any of them. Four or five members were on the floor at one time all clamoring for recognition from the Chair.

Without exception the proceedings for over half an hour were the most undignified which we have ever witnessed. In the midst of the row Dr Ellis arose to make a motion but was promptly ordered to sit down. He refused to do so but in stentorian tones which he managed to raise above the warring elements announced his motion. It was duly seconded and while the Doctor was pressing the motion in eloquent terms the Chairman addressed him: "Mr Ellis will you sit down sir; if you don't I'll come down and seat you myself. If you don't like the way this Convention is being run you can just walk out sir." That argument was conclusive and the Doctor squatted.

Disgusted with the endless wrangling of the members and the stubborn, arbitrary action of the Chairman a motion was made and seconded to adjourn. With characteristic obstinacy the Chairman refused to entertain the motion and told the mover to go out.

A motion was then made and seconded to proceed to a permanent organization and the name of Mr VanCleave placed in nomination as Chairman. Like all the other motions the Chairman declared it "out of order" as another motion was pending at that time.

This was followed by a protracted scene of wrangling which would serve to remind one more forcibly of a street brawl on an election day than any proceedings of a deliberative body.

During this interesting interval the Chairman to the infinite relief of the Convention abdicated the seat and desired Mr. Pennoyer to act as a substitute. That gentleman, however, firmly declined to accommodate Mr Page.

The abdicating Chairman then turned to Mr Scoggins and in the most pathetic tones besought him to assume the "seat of thorns." The good nature of Mr Scoggins asserted itself and that gentleman came forward timidly and took the chair. Scarcely had he assumed the responsibilities of the position before Mr Oppenheimer sprang up and said that Mr Scoggins was not yet a member of the Convention and had no right to act as Chairman.

Mr Page who had evidently overlooked the fact now turned around and with the remark "Well I guess I'll take the Chair," then walked up and Scoggins had no alternative but to hand in an involuntary resignation.

After considerable aimless discussion the motion was made and carried by a vote of 34 to 9 that Mr Scoggins be entitled to cast the vote of the two delegates from St. John's precinct; that S Norris be allowed to cast the vote for J S Risley and E C Lord that of P J Martin.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

Mr Hallock moved that the Convention proceed to the election of permanent officers. The motion prevailed.

Sylvester Pennoyer was placed in nomination and, chosen by acclamation as permanent presiding officer without a dissenting voice.

In the same manner Shubrick Norris and J B Lane were were chosen Secretaries.

DELEGATES CHOSEN.

Mr Bellinger moved that the Convention now proceed to the selection of 12 delegates to attend the State Convention at Albany. The vote to be taken by ballot, and delegates to be elected were required to receive a majority of all the votes cast. There being 49 votes in the Convention 25 were necessary to constitute a choice. Motion prevailed.

The Chairman appointed as tellers C B Bellinger and R J Ladd.

On the first ballot the following delegates were chosen: J C Liles, J B Lane, A Campbell, E J Jeffreys, R J Ladd, B L Norden, E Semple, Jas Wilson, Dan'l McGillis, M Seller.

The Chair declared these persons duly elected and stated that the members would proceed to prepare their ballots to elect the other two delegates.

On the second ballot the following persons were chosen delegates: C B Bellinger and J S M VanCleave.

On motion the delegates present at the State Convention were authorized to cast the vote of the county.

On motion the Chairman appointed the following persons to act as the County Central Committee: W F Trimble, Moses Seller, J S M VanCleave, Daniel McGillis and Arthur Lahue.

On motion the thanks of the Convention were voted the officers for the impartial manner in which they discharged their duties.

On motion, the Convention adjourned sine die.

TEACHERS' MONTHLY INSTITUTE.

The teachers of the public schools of the city assembled at the Central School House last Saturday at 10 o'clock. On calling the roll all the teachers were found to be present.

The minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The subject of Addition was then presented for the consideration of the Institute.

Prof King showed that the mechanical operation of addition can begin at the left hand side of a column of figures as well as at the right. The same can be said of the three other fundamental operations of arithmetic.

Miss Hodgden presented the subject of Division of Fractions in a lucid manner. She endorsed the position that it was profitable to present to pupils various processes for reaching the same result.

Prof J W Johnson gave a perspicuous explanation on the same subject.

Here a recess of five minutes was taken after which the Institute was called to order and Mr W Johnson presented the subject of Long Division by commencing at the right hand of the dividend.

Mr I W Pratt, Miss Bodman and Mrs Morton were appointed as an Executive Committee.

The subject of Division was continued until next meeting.

AMUSEMENTS.

On Friday evening of the present week will be produced for the first time the grand military drama entitled the "Color Guard" at Oro Fino Theater under the auspices of Baker and Canby Post G A R. The various characters represented will be personated by well known amateurs of this city. The play will [illegible] presented on Saturday afternoon at matinee and on Saturday evening. The drama has been in active course of preparation for a number of weeks and the members of the company who are to produce it have been carefully training and rehearsing for a long time. The entire management of the play, the stage and all necessary accessories will be under the special management of Mr White an old and experienced professional, so there can be no doubt but what the drama will be presented in first class style. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the Charity Fund of the Post which is devoted to the relief of the destitute widows and orphans of soldiers and sailors. We invite attention to the advertisement found elsewhere.

HOSPITAL AND ORPHANAGE.

The work of establishing the institution which is to combine the care and nursing of the sick with the training of orphaned and destitute children under one management but in separate buildings, is making encouraging progress. The ample grounds on Twenty first street between M and O streets have been cleared off and fenced and several hundred trees planted in addition to the clumps and clusters of original growth still standing.

Plans for the first building are being prepared and it is designed to lay the corner stone in the early part of next month. A committee of ladies and gentlemen are engaged in canvassing the city for subscriptions to the building fund and they surely ought to meet with a liberal and hearty welcome in so good a cause. We understand that Bishop Morris has pledged two thousand dollars toward this fund and that he will feel authorized to go on with the building as soon as three thousand dollars additional are subscribed.

The Bishop preached at Trinity Church on Sunday morning in behalf of this enterprise from the 45th verse of the 25th chapter of St Matthew's Gospel: "Verily I say unto you inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these ye did it not to me." He drew from this text the doctrine of the obligation and debt of one class of God's creatures toward another and that in the great day of account the condemnation of multitudes would be not for rebellion against God, not for lives of high handed wickedness but for neglected duty because Christ in the person of the poor and afflicted was an hungered and they gave him no meat, thirsty and they gave him no drink, a stranger and they took him not in, naked and they clothed him not, sick and in prison and they visited him not. In the application of these principles to the work in the Hospital and Orphanage the Bishop spoke as follows:

To make a way for the accomplishment of this high purpose of our lives, to call out and direct the sympathies of one class for the needs and sufferings of another class, to provide for their cure or alleviation, to rescue the "little ones" that would otherwise fall a prey to the mighty power of evil that is every hour upon their track, to enable you, my brethren, among others to pay the debt you owe to your Heavenly Father—to your afflicted and suffering brethren, all of them the children of His care and love—we propose to establish here in your city, an institution which shall combine under one management the care and nursing of the sick and the training of orphaned and neglected children. Ample grounds have been secured for this work and we trust that, by God's blessing on our efforts that in a few years you will see both these departments fully organized side by side engaged in this beneficent and noble work.

Will any one say that it has been undertaken a day or an hour too soon? It surely is time that this city, the commercial and business center of all the wide scope of country that pays tribute to you and your fellow citizens was provided with such institutions.

It is time that Protestants as well as others were engaged in that eminently Christian work of caring for the sick and sheltering and training the children that God's providence casts upon the charity of strangers.

Far be it from me to say a disparaging word of similar works carried on by those who conscientiously adhere to a system we can not conscientiously approve of. Such works as these are the right arm of that system and while Protestants sleep, or wrangle over their mint, anise and cummin, sisterhoods multiply and increase, hospitals, asylums, schools and convents spring up all over the land, and Romanism grows strong and bold and aggressive day by day. Will not you who know well the evils of that system when it is once in the seat of influence and power come to our aid in so important a work as this? This subject has many points upon which I would like to speak but I must content myself on the present occasion with but a portion of these.

The general character of this institution may be in great part learned from a name which has been suggested and which will ever be appropriate though not yet finally adopted.

THE GOOD SAMARITAN HOSPITAL AND HOUSE OF MERCY.

The title "Hospital" at once indicates the uses of one department while that of the "House of Mercy," does not suggest a limitation of the benefits of the other to those who are "orphans" in the strict and exact sense but allows the reception of every child whom death, poverty, or parental neglect and wrong has orphaned. The title "Good Samaritan" suggests that no conditions are to be required for admission to either department, but those of want and suffering. It was the enemy of his race and religion who would have no dealings with him nor his people—not even so much as to ask for a cup of cold water—it was the long hated Jew that the Samaritan found bleeding and dying by the way side whose wounds he bound up pouring in oil and wine and whose further care and attention he provided for at his own cost. How free then must be the admission to doors over which this name may be written. It must be without condition of race or religion, of color or country. These doors must be closed against no one in human form and no minister or priest of whatever name or creed must be denied admission to the bedside of any patient that lies under such a roof. And while of course it is understood that the institution is to be under the management and supervision of the Episcopal Church the proselyting of its patients is no purpose of its establishment. It will hold out no inducement to those enfeebled in mind and dependent on its care to change their faith in an hour of weakness and alarm but it will be content to bestow its ministrations on all who need them glad to give according to its best ability the comforts of a father's house and true brotherly sympathy to all who seek its care and sympathy.

It will open a field for the employment of the best gifts of woman in the care of the sick, the training of the children and the general administration of its affairs, and it will thus in itself be a great boon to those whom we sometimes call the weaker sex but who have latent and undeveloped powers that rightly employed will do much to reform society and regenerate the world. We will not call her to the hustings nor to the platform of public [illegible]. We will not degrade her to the level of political trickery nor ask her to cry, nor lift up nor cause her voice to be heard in the street. But we will give her a place where her gifts and talents shall find ample scope, where her example of simplicity and [illegible] counsel to the young, and her loving and tender ministrations to the sick and suffering shall exert an influence far more [illegible] and enduring than anything she can do by thrusting herself before the gaze of the world and clamoring for a share in its masculine [illegible]. The mighty power of [illegible] Gospel [illegible] power [illegible] with observation.

A recent letter from a gentleman in the [illegible] who has given much time [illegible] [illegible] Hospital [illegible]

[illegible]

The effort [illegible] to secure the [illegible] building [illegible] three thousand [illegible] When the [illegible] [illegible] free beds [illegible] paying patients [illegible] a general fund is the love and liberality [illegible] people [illegible] A large part of the [illegible]

it is believed that other endowments will soon be undertaken. I trust that it will not be very long, till this and other congregations and benevolent associations will each have a free bed at their disposal. Endowed scholarships in the Orphanage and free beds for sick children will also be asked for in the same ways. We trust as time goes on and as Christian hearts warm toward this enterprise it will be supplied with what is needful to carry on so beneficent a work. Those who cherish in their hearts the memory of a friend or relative who has gone to that blessed rest where sickness and suffering are unknown—who remember some patient sufferer that for long years bore the burden of restlessness and pain without a murmur or complaint, those who have the ever present vision of a sweet and lovely child who was snatched from them in the bright spring day of its life may choose to inscribe the names of such loved ones over beds for tottering age or smitten childhood around which the ministrations of Christian love and tenderness shall wait by day and night through all time to come and from which in their own sleepless hours, in their own beds of suffering, or in the last remnants of their lives they may hear the echo of these blessed words of cheer and comfort: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me." Of course I look to you my brethren of this congregation to lead the way in this work. You have not failed me hitherto neither will you now. An undertaking of this nature, with this liberal and large hearted policy—may ask and I expect sympathy and assistance from all sorts and conditions of people but we ourselves must be foremost in our labors and our gifts. If I could persuade all to whom we should look—if I could persuade all who now hear me to think and feel as I do on this subject—and as I believe they will at the hour of death and at the Day of Judgment, to-morrow's sun would not set before every needed dollar was in hand.

In conclusion brethren let us remember two things. We can not do our duty, we can not discharge our responsibilities, we can not secure the rewards that Christ has purchased for us in an easy, idle life. We must not wait for solicitation and importunity in this great work. Those that are sick and in prison can not come to us; we must go them. Many that are strangers, hungry and naked will die with their wants known only to the Father of all before they will bring them to us. The Master whom we claim to follow went about doing good. He came to seek out as well as to save the lost. Surely a like spirit must be in us if we are His true disciples, if we are the true children of that impartial Father who sends His blessings upon the just and unjust and who is kind to the unthankful and evil.

So too must we do our duty when we have the opportunity, when the occasion with the means and ability come together, or we shall never do it all. Thus it was with the Samaritan, and with the Priest and Levite. It was on the same journey that each had this blessed opportunity. One contented himself with coming to the place and simply looking at the man in his dying agonies. The other without even the impulse of curiosity coldly passed by on the other side as he hurried away from his perfunctory duties at the Temple. They may have traveled that same road, going and returning in their appointed course to the end of their days but never again had they this opportunity of gaining a blessing for their souls. It was left for the despised Samaritan to appropriate that which they so unwisely rejected and cast away from them. So brethren we have but one journey to make through life. "Men that have fallen among thieves," the sick, the hungry, the stranger, the tempted, the sorrowing, the broken hearted, the fallen, the simple minded, the little ones "of whom Christ speaks" are all along our pathway and if we pass them by now there will be no return journey in which we can amend the fatal neglect. Oh who can look back over all the past years of his own life and not reproach himself for many, many such neglected opportunities. There was profound wisdom in the homely thoughts of that honest dealer who on his full and rounded measure being criticised by his sharp and unscrupulous neighbors answered, "I have but one lifetime in which to do right. When I pass to that other world, it will be too late to make up light weight and short measure." Just so is it in these active duties of benevolence and charity, of the opportunities to pay the debt we owe to God and our brother. We have but one lifetime in which to do these things. When the journey is ended there can be no return to make amends for the sad and fatal neglects that marked our passage through life's probation. We may have bartered all our blessed opportunities, our very birth right, to a heavenly inheritance, for the poorest cheats of earth, but it will then be too late to recall our choice. Well may we say,

> Sad waste for which no after thrift atones,
> The grave admits no cure for guilt or sin;
> Dew drops may deck the turf that hides the bones
> But tears of godly grief ne'er flow within.
> We barter life for pottage, sell true bliss
> For wealth or power, for pleasure or renown;
> Thus Esau like, our Father's blessing miss,
> Then wash with fruitless tears our faded crown.
> Our faded crown despised and flung aside
> Shall on some brother's brow immortal bloom;
> No partial hand the blessing may misguide,
> No flattering fancy change our Monarch's doom.

Oh, let us all so faithfully seek to know and do God's will in the discharge of our stewardship that this startling accusation in that great day of reckoning and reward shall have no application to us: "Verily I say unto you inasmuch as ye did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me," and that in their place, we may hear those other joyful words: "Come ye blessed of my Father inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times Women call upon their family physicians one with dyspepsia another with palpitation another with trouble of the breast another with pain here and there and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy going and indifferent doctors separate and distinct diseases for which he prescribes his pills and potions assuming them to be such when in reality, they are all symptoms caused by some uterine disorder and while they are thus only able perhaps to palliate for a time they are ignorant of the cause and encourage their practice until large bills are made when the suffering patients are no better in the end but probably worse for the delay, treatment and other complications made, and which a proper medicine directed to the cause would have entirely removed thereby instituting health and comfort instead of prolonged misery.

From Miss LORINDA E ST CLAIR Shade Athens Co O Oct 11th 1872.

Dr R V Pierce Buffalo N Y—Your Favorite Prescription is working almost like a miracle on me. I am better already than I have been for over two years.

From ELLA A SCHAFER Zanesville, Ind Aug 3 1872.

Dr Pierce—I received the medicine you sent me and began using it immediately. As a result of the treatment I feel better than I have for three years.

From Mrs JOHN R HAMLIN, Odell Ill March 19 1872.

Dr Pierce—The Favorite Prescription has done me good which I am very thankful for.

It is a rare thing that physicians give any countenance to a medicine the manufacture of which is a secret. About the only exception we know of is Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. This we believe all endorse and many of them use it in their practice with great success.

Persons requiring purgatives or pills should be careful what they buy. Some pills not only cause griping pains but leave the bowels in a torpid costive state. Parsons' Purgative Pills will relieve the bowels and cleanse the blood without injury to the system.

Steadily, but without any flourish of trumpets UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS made its way to the first place among the Tonics of the present day; that place it now occupies and will continue to occupy as long as dyspepsia, general debility, kidney diseases and nervous affections continue to prevail among mankind.

THE PHILADELPHIA CENTENNIAL

SOVEREIGN [illegible] THE PRESIDENT'S INVITATION

The following letters purporting to be the replies of various foreign sovereigns to the invitation of President Grant to visit him and the Philadelphia Exposition on the 4th of July 1876 have been handed to us for publication says the New York [illegible]. As they did not reach us under the seal of the State Department we publish them as the French say [illegible]

FROM QUEEN VICTORIA

Mr President Since the [illegible] of my beloved husband I have made it a rule never to quit my kingdom except to visit the scenes associated with his early youth at Coburg. I pray your Excellency therefore to excuse me from accepting the invitation which you have been pleased to send me. To give your Excellency however some idea of the estimate in which the American people and its Government are held by my court I shall allow myself the satisfaction of sending to your Philadelphia Bazaar a full length portrait of my lamented grandfather George III of blessed memory and a bust of Brigadier General Benedict Arnold who of all your American heroes enjoyed and so far as I know merited the most of my grandfather's respect.

Though I may not be with you in person I trust the sight of these memorials of affection will convince your Excellency that the lapse of a century with all its curious vicissitudes has not in the slightest degree diminished those feelings toward Americans which the event you are about to commemorate was calculated to inspire in the breast of every loyal Englishman

Kiss my hand VICTORIA

Given at my Palace at Windsor, April 1st 1874

FROM THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA

Mr President In declining your Excellency's princely invitation as I am constrained to do, I beg you will not infer that I am unmindful of the more than paternal interest your Government has always taken in protecting the rights and liberties of my subjects who have needed the shelter of your flag or the tender solicitude manifested by one of your predecessors for the subjects of my imperial brother the late Emperor of Mexico I assure your Excellency that these are incidents that can never be forgotten by me or my descendants

There is however a tradition in my family which I have been educated to respect, and which I hope will satisfy your Excellency that in denying myself the pleasure of participating in your National fete I do not undervalue the honor of your invitation When my august predecessor Joseph II of blessed memory was in Paris in 1777, he found there an artful old printer named Franklin or as he was sometimes more properly called Poor Calin trying to wheedle Louis into the support of his countrymen in their revolt against England He was unhappily but too successful and the King urged Joseph whose sister he had married to join him "No sire" was my august ancestor's reply, "it is my trade to reign"

You will not take it amiss I hope Mr President, if I assign as a reason for declining your invitation, that reigning is my trade also and I propose to continue in it

May the Lord have your excellency in His holy keeping. JOSEPH

Given at our Palace of Schœnbrun, April 1st, 1874

FROM THE KING AND EMPEROR WILHELM

Mr President I am old a poor sailor and so much occupied in counteracting the maneuvers of my neighbors, as well the fallible as the infallible that I have no expectation of ever again quitting my empire until I am obliged to do so, unless, perhaps, public duty should require me to revisit Paris I shall not fail, however, to be represented at Philadelphia Besides the two or three millions of subjects who, under the influence of a patriotism which only republican institutions seem capable of inspiring, have left their country for their country's good, and who will take an active part in your centennial, I propose further to signalize that occasion by a general jail delivery of my whole empire. In order the better to testify to your Excellency my high appreciation of the true mission of republicanism, I propose to provide each of these objects of my unprecedented clemency with a free passage to your country, and orders never to return under the penalty of imprisonment for life I feel that in no more suitable way than this can I interpret the sentiments of my Government for the institutions of which you are the official representative and the accumulated fruits of which you invite me to witness

May the Lord have your Excellency in His holy keeping

Given at my palace at Babelsburg April 1st, 1874. WILHELM

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH

Mr President France can never forget her obligations to your Government for the wise firmness of its Executive in 1833 in compelling my august predecessor Louis Philippe, of blessed memory, to pay up the American indemnity, which might otherwise have been a charge upon my treasury at this day when it would be very inconvenient to take care of it, neither can she ever be insensible to the beneficent exercise of your influence in smoothing the way for the withdrawal of our army from Mexico in 1867 and thus saving us the inconvenient expenses of a longer occupation of that miserable country We would prefer however and shall not hesitate to avail ourselves of the first convenient opportunity that offers to testify our gratitude in some similar service to you, rather than by accepting your Excellency's gracious invitation to celebrate your first centennial in Philadelphia The fact is to be frank with you as becomes men in our positions the part which my predecessor, the lamented Louis XVI of blessed memory had in your national accouchement, cost him and his wife their heads, and I fear that my participation in the centennial anniversary of that event might prove equally expensive to myself

My august predecessor meant no wrong in lending you his support in your revolt in 1796 He merely sought the humiliation of England always the natural wish of every Continental sovereign but you know the people are not discriminating They are apt to think their rulers mean what they say and act from the motives which they avow So when they saw their king aiding in the establishment of your independence and the sovereignty of the people they were pig headed enough to suppose we were fighting for the rights of all men, not merely for the privileges of the French princes I regret to say that the same delusion is more rife in my dominions now than ever before and it requires all my power and tact to conceal from the public the extent to which it prevails I have a soft place at present and do not care to change it

This is a consideration to which your Excellency is not a stranger, and therefore I am sure you will be prepared to appreciate and if necessary to pardon the feelings with which I am constrained to decline your Excellency's gracious hospitality

FROM THE PRESIDENT OF SPAIN

Mr President I regard the discovery of America as the greatest calamity that ever befel my country or mankind and if there is any one place hotter than all others in the universe I hope Columbus is in it I shall not celebrate the birthday of your Republic but it will give me the greatest imaginable satisfaction to assist at its funeral SERRANO

Given at our Palace at Madrid April 1 1874

FROM THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA

Mr President The attention which your Excellency heaped upon my son Alexis when he visited you in Washington in 1871 makes it doubly painful for me to decline your gracious invitation but as my daughter recently married a son of England I fear my presence at Washington on the occasion of your centennial might compromise me to some extent at the Court of St James which just at present I cannot well afford I propose however to be represented at Philadelphia by my faithful servant Catacazy whom as a token of my great friendship for your Government I shall never permit to represent me at any other capital than yours for the rest of his natural life ALEXANDER

Given at my Ice Palace on the Neva, this 1st April, 1874

FROM THE POPE PIUS IX

My Son Though I am infallible as all my predecessors were, I am obliged to confess that none of us ever left the Pontifical States without regretting it I never was out of them but once, and then I vowed a box of candles, that if once permitted to get back I would never quit them again I hope you will esteem this a sufficient excuse for my declining your invitation [illegible] great however is my interest in your republic the principle [illegible] of which enjoys governments mainly directed by my faithful subjects that I propose to be represented at your show in Philadelphia by the very Catholic Victor Emmanuel King of Spain He is a good fellow enough but has been ruined by bad company and is now [illegible] nothing better [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the United States and I have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Indians [illegible] during the past [illegible] I shall tell him when he leaves that he [illegible] of your future country [illegible] Webster [illegible] no steps backwards If [illegible] he would be [illegible] should not oblige [illegible] [illegible] others to send him further where he would probably fare worse

Should the Government [illegible] to pieces before the Centennial arrives—more surprising and more unfortunate things are happening every day—I shall send him a cancel all the sum PIUS

The agricultural population of Oregon as a class are now in a better condition financially than for a number of years past if reports of those who have had opportunities of knowing are to be relied on In some of the counties in the valley we learn that considerable sums are offered on prime security at 10 per cent per annum, and the Albany Register says there is much more money in Linn county than ever before So in the other counties of the State tax collectors and others report the people full handed This will enable them to make needed improvements on their farms and stimulate them to more extended operations in the line of agriculture than ever before The two circumstances that have tended most to bring about this state of affairs are the high prices of their grain in Europe and the combinations of the producers which have enabled them to obtain nearer the real market value of their product

In our local money market there is no change worthy of especial mention the current demand for short loans being readily met but for yearly favors the requirements are still firm at a higher rate than is consistent with a really healthy state of trade

Home Produce Market.

The movement in produce is now limited both by the severity of the weather which is unusually inclement, and the dull demand There are no new charters of vessels to arrive to load for foreign port, and when the Cordonan Antioch and Lady Blessington now en route to load for England shall have completed their cargoes the probabilities are that not many more foreign bound vessels will be here to load wheat before harvest, A great portion of the surplus will however be sent to the California market

Our San Francisco dispatches to day report a rather better feeling in the San Francisco market for certain kinds of produce but oats has undergone no change in prices

The Doctor has spared no time nor pains in seeking out new remedies and has returned [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indiscretions, from [illegible] absorbed into the system! Look at the pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and broken down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer till death closes the scene Let parents guardians and friends lend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send immediately to DR. GIBBON a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] are interested in the welfare of their [illegible] [illegible] of the many pretended doctors who in all cities publishing their skill in curing all [illegible] in a few days imposing upon the public with the names of eminent physicians from [illegible] other places Be therefore careful and make inquiry or you may fall into the hands of charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of [illegible] This solitary vice or depraved sexual [illegible] practiced by the youth of both sexes to an unlimited extent producing with [illegible] ty the following train of morbid symptoms [illegible] combatted by scientific medical measures [illegible] low countenance dark spots under the eyes [illegible] the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption, night sweats and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained [illegible] apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific method of treating this disease which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will forfeit [illegible] Hundred Dollars to any person who will satisfactorily [illegible] to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco [illegible]

Caution to the Unfortunate

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates deceive the unwary Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other [illegible] are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths shoemakers, letter carriers intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry, it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patients [illegible] Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat all cases that he undertakes to cure
